

RAP 301 Time and Attendance

From Rovipedia, the RoviSys encyclopedia

Approved

Purpose: This procedure provides the requirements for RoviSys employees to record their time spent on customer contracts and RoviSys designated activities. High quality employee time data will result in accurate and informative customer billings. Employee time data is an essential component of contract project management.

1. All time spent on company business must be recorded in the Grandview System accurately.
2. All RoviSys employees can access the Grandview software on the RoviSys website. Select the date to be updated under the Timesheet heading on the Employee Home Page. Employees can also access the RoviSys MyTime application to record their time.
3. Employees will be added to client projects in Grandview as needed and must record all time working on client-related activity accurately.
4. Except in rare cases, all non-management employee time should be charged to projects.
5. Directors shall maintain division-specific/region-specific ADMIN and SALES projects. These projects shall be used to capture all non-project related activities. ADMIN projects for each division will be named ADMIN followed by the acronym used for that division (i.e. ADMINPBV - for Life Sciences). SALES projects for each division will be named SALES followed by the acronym used for that division (i.e. SALESPWP - for Paper and Wood Products). Each of these projects will contain sub jobs to identify each of our locations.
6. Enter time expended in the appropriate task codes, which best describes the work performed. Check with your manager if you are uncertain as to which code to use.
7. Record the hours expended on each activity under the appropriate date.
8. Requests for the addition of new task codes and projects to an employee time sheet should be directed to the employee's Group Manager or Project Manager.
9. It is recommended that employees enter their time daily. Employee time must be recorded by 9 AM each Monday for the preceding week (Monday through Sunday).
10. Employee timesheet must be up to date, and submitted on the first business day following the end of month. Completion by the end of the last day of the month is highly encouraged.
11. Each month, the manager shall examine employee timesheets and verify they are correct. Once a timesheet is correct, the manager shall approve the timesheet in Grandview.
12. The accuracy of the employee timesheet is extremely important. Falsifying timesheets is not permitted and is subject to disciplinary action up to and including termination.
13. The timesheet system is open to select RoviSys customers for contract audit. The RoviSys timesheet system is the basis for customer billings on time and material or cost plus contracts.
14. Non-billable time is defined as time spent by employees that does not in any way benefit the project(s) on which they are assigned. All non-management employees must record non-billable time in their division-specific / region-specific ADMIN project in Grandview. All Management members shall record their non-billable time in their respective division-specific / region-specific ADMIN project. Non-billable time only includes the following:
 - Holidays, vacation, illness, personal time and RAC event attendance (during working hours). These Non-billable hours must not exceed eight (8) hours per day to a maximum of forty (40) hours per week. Part-time employees must use pro-rated hours. Hourly employees may not charge non-mandatory, non-billable time outside normal work hours (8:00am - 5:00pm).
 - Please reference the Time Off - Personal Time / Illness article for additional information.
 - If the employee is at any time unable to fulfill any of their job requirements, he/she must notify their Manager and PM (when applicable) as soon as reasonably possible via text, email, teams message, Roving, etc.

- Examples include:
 - A car accident that would prohibit you from driving to the office or client site.
 - An illness preventing you from working remotely.
 - A situation that prevents you from leaving your house such as a quarantine.
- Manager approved continuous improvement (QMS), recruiting/interviewing (HR), new employee orientation, required training (RCE) tasks, and manager approved safety tasks.
- Travel when productive work for the project cannot be accomplished or when not approved for billable time by the client. When non-billable, project travel should occur outside of normal working hours and be entered within the project in Grandview.

15. Business development activity must be captured in Grandview. All business development hours must be entered accurately in the division-specific/region-specific SALES projects in the following manner.

- Directors and Group Managers must record business development activity in their respective division-specific/region-specific SALES project.
- All employees performing business development activities for a specific division in a specific region must record their hours in the division-specific/region-specific SALES project.
- All employees performing business development activities that are not for a specific division or a specific region must record their hours in the company-wide SALES project named Sales.
