Meals

You will be reimbursed for the cost of your meals while traveling on business or while conducting business provided the meals are reasonable based on the facts and circumstances. Meals should not be lavish or extravagant. If a meal is accompanied by entertainment (i.e. dinner on a riverboat), you must classify the expense as Entertainment.

- Create a new expense item by selecting +NEW EXPENSE.
- Attach the receipt by selecting ATTACH RECEIPT.
- Your meal receipt must include all meal items as well as tip and total.
- Select or create the appropriate BUSINESS PURPOSE.
- Enter the Expense Date. The Expense Date will be the date of meal.
- Select the Category as Meal.
- Leave Expense has been Advanced off.
- Enter the amount for the meal including tip.
- If the meal is for just you, enter Breakfast, Lunch or Dinner into the Description field.
- If the meal is for you and additional people, include the names of those with you in the Description field.

Example 1

You are traveling on a startup for ABC19A by yourself in a small town during the week of April 14, 2019. On St. Patrick's Day, you really want to treat yourself to a great meal. You start with a nice Pappy Van Winkle bourbon ($50/glass), order the all you can eat prime rib dinner ($75) along with an incredible bottle of wine ($200/bottle). The service is great, so you tip another $80. Your dinners on Monday and Tuesday were good and around $25. Clearly this is lavish and extravagant...what should you do?

- Attach the detailed receipt showing the name of the restaurant, the meal items and the receipt with the tip and the total added.
- The Business Purpose is "Startup".
- The Job Number is ABC19A.
- The Purchase Date is April 17, 2019.
- The Category is Meals.
- Leave the Expense has been Advanced off because you paid with your personal credit card.
- The amount you submit is $25.
- The Description is "Dinner – reasonable reimbursement".

Example 2

You take a new employee, Jane Doe, out to lunch in NC on her first day, March 5, 2019. The lunch cost is $17 and you add a $3 tip onto the receipt.

- Attach the detailed receipt showing the name of the restaurant and both lunches as well as the receipt with the tip and the total added.
- The Business Purpose is "New Employee Lunch".
- The job number ADMINNC should appear below the Business Purpose line.
- The Expense Date is March 5, 2019.
- The Category is Meals.

- Leave the Expense has been Advanced off because you paid with your personal credit card.
- The amount is $20.
- The Description is "Jane Doe".
